Uniquely equipped to address the entire lifecycle of an incident

Rarely are cyber incidents handled with a strictly technical response. A single mistake can expose organizations to higher regulatory fines or litigation settlements, which is why our experts are trained to handle the technical aspects such as analysis, containment, and eradication, but are also litigation-aware with many carrying years of law enforcement experience. Coupled with our extensive relationships within the IR ecosystem of law firms, cyber insurance carriers and brokers and law enforcement agencies, we're uniquely equipped to help you through the entire incident lifecycle.
